DETAILED ACTION

1. Acknowledgement is made in the receipt of the amendment filed March 23, 2006.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 4, 6 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 4,586,689 to Lantero.

Re-claims 1 and 6, Lantero discloses in figure 8 a device for damping vibrations, the device damps both vertical and horizontal vibrations, see column 3 lines 54-58 (and is thus capable of being mounted vertically), furthermore, Lantero discloses that each damping element can be a sectional piece, see column 4 lines 20-21, the device is characterized by an plate 1, which when mounted vertically, has an opposite upper and lower end in the longitudinal direction, an upper 4 and lower 4 attachment are fixed to the plate for an upper 3 and lower 3 (each being a sectional ring) damping elements respectively, the damping elements are connected via a joining element 5 between the upper and lower attachments for the damping elements, the joining element is free to travel in the longitudinal direction in a slot (interpreted as the recess defined by plate 1), the joining element is turn is fixed to a holder 2 for a device exposed to dampened vibrations, the damping elements are wire rings arranged such that their respective diameters lie in a plane parallel to the longitudinal plane defined by the face of the oblong plate. The damping elements illustrated in figure 8 when configured as sectional rings will have a plane parallel to the longitudinal plane defined by the plate.

Re-claims 4 and 9, the damping elements are affixed to the upper and lower attachments by a through going opening.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 3 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lantero.

Re-claims 3 and 8, Lantero fails teaches the device used for mounting a stretcher, or more specifically the joining element fixed to a hook for mounting the stretcher. However, it is the opinion of the examiner that the devices is capable of mounting any number of objects including a stretcher and that the joining element is capable of having affixed thereto a hook for mounting the stretcher. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have realized that each device of Lantero is capable of supporting and isolating from vibrations a stretcher, since the device is designed to isolate and support a mass from a vibratory element.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2 and 7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-4 and 6-8 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
